

Building Blocks

Designed as an aid to precision, these brass blocks function as both tool and object of play. Each brass piece is machine-milled to a defined system of units, useful for cutting, marking, measuring, and pressing. When not in use, the five blocks nest into a fitted wooden base, forming a complete and organised ensemble.

Use & Care

Oiled wood should be wiped with a dry cotton cloth as required. Periodically, apply a generous coat of oil with a clean cotton cloth, let it soak for an hour, then wipe off the excess.

Brass surfaces are left exposed to age naturally through use. If desired, the original polish can be restored using a brass-specific cleaning agent and a soft cotton cloth.
